

Covid-19 Policy Statement – May 2022

Following the lifting of government restrictions on 1st April 2022, Delron Services Ltd remain committed to ensuring the Health, Safety and Welfare of our staff, and also those whom DSL interact with during the undertaking of our duties.

Whilst there is no longer a legal requirement to self-isolate, or for staff to notify DSL legally of a positive covid-19 case, we regularly remind our staff of the need to remain vigilant at this time, and to continue to adopt some of the core control measures that DSL have been enforcing in recent years.

These core control measures to reduce risk include but are not necessarily limited to:

- Strict compliance with customer / site-specific covid-19 control measures
- Temperature checks whilst gaining entry to DSL buildings
- Provision of Personal Protective Equipment such as masks, gloves, and sanitiser, should staff wish to use them
- Mandatory use of face masks whilst DSL are working in Care Homes & Hospitals
- Whilst vehicle sharing is now conducted, Engineers typically work in smaller groups to avoid any potential larger spread of infection across DSL staff
- Working in well-ventilated areas is encouraged; windows to be opened where available
- Social distancing is still actively encouraged – 1metre + wherever possible
- Use of public transport continues to be avoided / used as a last resort
- Encouragement of reporting of any concerns / ill-health to Management in the first instance
- Regular hand washing using soap and warm water for a minimum of 20 seconds
- Regular washing and changing of uniform following shifts
- Regular management meetings to discuss Health & Safety matters, including Covid-19

We shall regularly monitor government updates, and should any changes in government policy come into force, DSL will adjust its control measures to combat this virus accordingly.
